DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The abstract contains the legal phraseology "means" on line 1, which should be removed.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1 and 2 are objected to because of the following informalities: For the purpose of maintaining consistency throughout the claims: "the oscillator" should be changed to "the voltage-controlled oscillator" on line 7 of claim 1; "the bridge" should be changed to "the Wien-Robinson bridge" on line 8 of claim 1; "the bridge" should be changed to "the Wien-Robinson bridge" on line 4 of claim 2; and "the oscillator" should be changed to "the voltage-controlled oscillator" on line 5 of claim 2. Appropriate correction is required.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1 and 2 would be allowable if rewritten or amended to overcome the objections set forth in this Office action.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the claims are considered to contain allowable subject matter due to the inclusion of claim limitations: “a voltage-controlled oscillator whose output forms the input to a Wien-Robinson bridge whose output signal is checked in a phase detector for its phase shift relative to the input to the Wien-Robinson bridge to check the balance of the Wien-Robinson bridge, the Wien-Robinson bridge being set to be balanced at a frequency that is generated in the oscillator at the nominal value selected for the reference voltage, and a pass signal is generated if the bridge is balanced and a fail signal is generated if it is not” in claim 1; and “a voltage-controlled oscillator whose output voltage is fed to a Wien-Robinson bridge whose output forms the input to a phase detector, the bridge being set to be balanced at a frequency that is generated in the oscillator at the nominal value selected for the reference voltage and the output of the phase detector generates a fail signal if a threshold value is exceeded, and a pass signal if it is not” in claim 2.
5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

USPN 5,773,967 to Tenten: This patent shows an apparatus for self-testing a reference voltage, but does not require a VCO or Wien-Robinson bridge.

USPN 5,573,099 to Church et al.: This patent shows a circuit with a VCO, bridge and phase detector, but does not require a Wien-Robinson bridge or pass/fail signal.

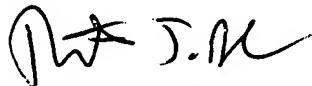

USPN 3,905,557 to Grommes et al.: This patent shows a circuit with a Wien-Robinson bridge connected to an oscillator, but not for testing a voltage or generating a pass/fail signal.
